Reimbursement product information 2024

Activities of Z-Index for you as information provider

- Making available, maintaining and further development of a very good secured web application with which you can view, amend and supply your product information in a simple and structured manner on-line. It is also possible to upload information via this web application.
- Checking, categorizing, enriching and distributing your product information (via software houses). This allows general practitioners to prescribe your products with a HIS, pharmaceutical dispensaries to order, supply and declare your product with an AIS and health insurance companies to reimburse your product with their information system.
- Maintain close contact with all software houses which integrate the G-Standaard in information systems for pharmaceutical dispensaries, general practitioners, health insurance companies and hospitals, allowing them to do this in a simple and unambiguous manner. All of the declaration rules are also attuned with the software houses.
- Interpretation and processing of (relevant) amendments in the field of legislation and regulations (classification, reimbursement status, etc.).
- Answering questions from prescribers, suppliers and health insurance companies about our products (these are primarily questions about legislation and regulation and prices).
- Answering your questions about the G-Standaard in general and in particular about listing your products in the G-Standaard.
